EVs Are Coming Faster Than You Think. Are You Ready?

As the number of electric vehicles (EVs) increases, this new wave of technology-savvy, environmentally conscious drivers will make up a growing proportion of your current and potential employees. EV charging is becoming a popular work benefit that today’s top talent not only seek, but also take into consideration as part of the job selection process.

Your Employees Need On-Site EV Charging to Commute in EVs

Driving an EV has many benefits, including lower fuel costs, better driving experiences, reduced greenhouse gas (GHG) emissions, and, in some states, access to High Occupancy Vehicle (HOV) lanes. But to use their EVs for commuting—or to even consider switching to an EV—your employees need on-site EV charging.

ChargePoint Can Help

ChargePoint offers the perfect solution for workplaces, allowing companies to provide premium on-site EV charging as an employee benefit. One in four of the companies featured in the Fortune “100 Best Companies to Work For” during the last 5 years uses ChargePoint to attract and retain talent, achieve sustainability goals, and establish its brand as a leader in corporate social responsibility.

*HOV lane access is available in select states only.

“We noticed that the number of EV drivers increased after we started offering workplace charging because it enabled people to commute using their EVs. But the biggest surprise was how it actually helped us attract and retain talent in the very competitive Bay Area job scene. One of the most frequently asked questions at interviews was ‘Do you offer EV charging?’ It really helped us recruit good candidates and keep them happy.”
